The Mission of the Vine & Branches Area Faith Community empowered by the Holy Spirit is to bear fruit that will last as Jesus commanded: by celebrating and proclaiming our Catholic faith as disciples of Jesus using our God-given gifts; by reaching out to and welcoming all people; and by centering our lives on the Eucharist, sacraments, scripture, service and the teaching of the Church.

Hello everyone,

What a cold few days that we have been having lately. Seeing some snow on the ground so early reminded me of the terrible snowstorm that took place on Halloween in 1991 when I was first learning how to drive in high school. That was a bad one if any of you remember that snownami.

I want to thank our religious education leaders and teachers at St. Joseph's, St. Raphael's parish and school for the hard work that you've been putting in since I got here. It has been a joy to be with you shuffling back and forth and I look forward to what the Lord will do for us as the days go by. It was a joy to be with the kids to celebrate All Saints Day and to see them having fun at school. I pray that we adults will learn to be more childlike in our ability to rejoice and celebrate the great festivals of our faith like they have a tendency to show us.

The homeschool group that gathers in our diocese at the school in Leavenworth invited me over for their party on the 31st. It was fun to learn about their group and to see the kids dressed up as their favorite saints and give their little speeches about them. I noticed that all the teenage boys either picked saints who were warriors or died a warrior's death (the martyrs). Keep up the good work in growing up protectors of the faith in the future boys.

Celebrating All Saints Day this past week got me thinking a little bit about holy days of obligation in the Catholic Church. For those of you who have been around for a long time you've probably noticed a substantial change throughout the years with how people view the solemnity. I may be too young to really understand the changes over the past 75 years, but I'd like to share with you some observations I've had and see if this is some food for thought...

What are Holy Days of obligation and what does that mean? Let's briefly look at the Catechism:

- a. 2180 The precept of the Church specifies the law of the Lord more precisely: "On Sundays and other holy days of obligation the faithful are bound to participate in the Mass."<sup>117</sup> "The precept of participating in the Mass is satisfied by assistance at a Mass which is celebrated anywhere in a Catholic rite either on the holy day or on the evening of the preceding day."<sup>118</sup>
- b. 2181 The Sunday Eucharist is the foundation and confirmation of all Christian practice. For this reason the faithful are obliged to participate in the Eucharist on days of obligation, unless excused for a serious reason (for example, illness, the care of infants) or dispensed by their own pastor.<sup>119</sup> Those who deliberately fail in this obligation commit a grave sin.
- c. 2182 Participation in the communal celebration of the Sunday Eucharist is a testimony of belonging and of being faithful to Christ and to his Church. The faithful give witness by this to their communion in faith and charity. Together they testify to God's holiness and their hope of salvation. They strengthen one another under the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

But if they are so important, why do so few people go to them? I think that is a question that many of us should be asking ourselves. I mean if we are being honest, the holy days may not seem all that important to someone looking in from the outside. And yet, the Church is saying that if you miss mass on these holy days, it is a grave sin and that means the sin is so serious it can become a mortal sin if the three requirements of a mortal sin are met (aka a complete severance of our relationship with God).

So, again, what gives? I wonder if maybe part of the problem is that we have lost the ability to celebrate these holy days properly. The Church is showing us that they are to be so important to us, and yet I wonder if we have lost sight as to why they are supposed to be so important. Over time I pray that the Holy Spirit will lead us into a renewal, a renewal of learning how to truly celebrate important solemnities... to share big meals together, have a cold beer, smoke a good cigar and truly take time away from the busyness of life and remember who we are, where we come from and where we are going. I simply can't imagine my life without the heroes, the saints, that I have come to know and love. They have meant so much and continue to mean so much to me. When I need a big brother or sister, I turn my prayers to them seeking help and guidance. Our relationship with them remains, even though there is a veil separating us right now. That is something I need to celebrate, that I need to remember and be grateful for. Maybe we'll start small in the future but grow in our ability to go all out with the important stuff as time goes by.

God's blessings,

Fr. Jeremy

Prayer to St. Raphael

The Archangel

St. Raphael, the Archangel,

Great prince of the heavenly court, you are radiant with your gifts of wisdom and grace.

You are a guide of those who journey, the consoler of the afflicted, and refuge of sinners.

Because you are the "Healing of God," we pray you to heal the many weaknesses and ills of our body, mind, and soul, and to assist us in our needs and sufferings in this life.

St. Raphael,

As once you helped young Tobias, we ask you to guide and lead our youth, to serve Almighty God with their whole strength and to spend their lives gladly to serve the Church as priests, Brothers, and Sisters.

Amen.
